Warm good wishes to respected Principal Ma'am, dear colleagues, the outgoing batch of class XII and my beloved students, There is a famous saying, "We can't change people, but we can make them feel the need for change"

One more academic session is drawing to a close and we are here in this grand function to release one more flock of birds with multi-hued feathers into the vast world of competition, career and so on.

I'm happy that I had the good opportunity to teach this batch of class XI itself. The two years time spent with them, I hope has been fruitful for them. I too have enjoyed and enriched my knowledge in interacting with a group of intelligent and artistic students.

I had students in this batch who wrote down in their notebook every new phrase/word that dropped from my mouth, students who maintained a diary with the new thoughts received from teachers, students who found their creative muse in the things around, students who gave memorable moments of fun and humour, Those who really touched our hearts, those who had great leadership qualities, and the list is never ending.

Let me tell you each and every student has left an indelible impression on our minds.

You have been a lucky batch since you had teachers who had spared all their time and energy in giving their best, emotionally and intellectually. You must not forget the contribution of all the teachers who at some stage or the other of your school life gave their best.. You are fortunate to have a Principal who is your ardent well wisher, someone who spares no efforts in giving the best and seeing you at your best.

I hope you all have used your time effectively in the school. Remember the day you stood at the threshold of school education with your parent and now the time has come to hand you over back to the parents after a brief but significant stint of training with us. In this brief period we have been your parents. There are teachers who have seen you grow up from that little child at the threshold to this day.

You must not leave the school with regret that you could not do your best. Still there is time. It is a word of caution for the next batch too.

I wish you all the best in life and in the ensuing examinations. We are eagerly waiting to see your immediate tribute to the alma-mater in the form of your performance in the forthcoming examinations.

Farewell in Life.

Best of Luck.
